OUR IDEAL CASTLE! A COMPLETE TOUR WITH US, YOUNG ARCHITECTS!

Hello everyone and welcome back to our Podcastle!

Today we are taking you on a tour through augmented reality and living history, imagined by a team of fantastic builders from the fifth grade!

Get ready to see castles that are not just walls, but a mix of technology, medieval fun, and total relaxation! Let's go!

First important thing: the ideal castle is open to everyone!

At the entrance there is a big brown gate, with two climbing plants and little flowers.

To get in easily, there is a large orange ramp and red stairs.

There are also elevators and fully accessible paths, including Braille.

And there are always plenty of guides and support available.

So, super easy access and a welcoming, green environment!

Here, history meets fun!
There is a virtual room with headsets and TVs to experience the past.

And for enthusiasts:
A library full of manga comics, books, and dictionaries of every kind.

To relive the Middle Ages:
Rooms for workshops.
Medieval-themed board games.
A large common hall to meet everyone, with tables for playing and a fireplace.
And the bedrooms are furnished just like in the Middle Ages.

Now the castle becomes adventurous!
There are tall towers for panoramic views and one tower with a giant eye to spot others!
There is an area in the courtyard for tournaments.
And for thrill lovers:
Spooky events linked to castle legends.
A horror hobby room with a scary cinema, pranks, and a “torture room” for selfies—but everything is obviously fake!

There is also a weapons room accessible to everyone, with a haunted house that, they say, is not that scary!
But the best game is “Guess the Object”!
You must guess what is inside a giant box.

Now it is time to relax. We arrive at the relaxation room!
Here you can get all kinds of massages.
You can watch any movies you want and listen to music without touching anything: just speak.
There is also another room with a massage chair and a bed with magically changed sheets.
As we leave, nature is waiting for us.
A castle surrounded by greenery and animals.
A 40-meter-long rooftop pool.
And a small field to take care of plants.

We have seen a truly ideal castle:
from the warm living room with a long, soft sofa, to the large kitchen, all the way to events with mock battles where you dress up in costumes.

And we cannot leave without memories! There is a shop to buy souvenirs!
We, the fifth-grade architects, thank you for dreaming with us about our purple and blue castle, made of imagination and inclusivity.

See you in the next project!
